My name is Rick Rochon. About six years ago I had to have several middle ear surgeries. They successfully eliminated chronic infections, and facial paralysis was avoided. A hearing loss was the main side effect from the whole ordeal.

I appreciated what the doctors and audiologists had done for me, and asked how I could work in their field. After two years of study and internship, I got my license and independently began helping people with hearing difficulties.

Now "hearing loss" and "hearing aids" are a personal issue for me. I know what it's like to "have to" wear them, and also how cool it is to hear better.

A while back when taking the dog outside before going to bed I was listening to the frogs croaking in the marsh about 250 yards from our house. As I clicked the battery doors open on my hearing aids the frogs all became silent. I clicked the doors shut again, and when the little tune beeped in the aids, the frogs must have heard it, because they all started croaking again! I related this experience to my wife, and can't believe she doubts the frogs astute hearing abilities ☺!

Most brands of hearing aids do an acceptable job if tuned correctly for your unique ears, but those that recover high frequencies give back more of the sounds of nature, and they measurably improve speech understanding. If you have a "high frequency" loss be sure to ask about them.

Find out if digital hearing aids will improve your life - as they have mine - frogs aside.

Ask yourself, do people mumble too often? (Yes, I know they do.) Are they pleasant when you ask them to repeat themselves? Or, do they get frustrated when you simply ask them to say something over? They did with me.

When I put my hearing aids on it seems like everything changes from black and white to color. Oz like. Call me today and begin to appreciate the clarity and color of sound again for yourself.

We provide local service, and "in home" visits when necessary. Our low prices easily compete with those found in the valley, and you save many hours of driving, not to mention the price of gas! This doesn't even address the cost of eating out, or finding that bathroom stop on the way home - yikes.

We can find the right style for you, one that is discrete - almost invisible, that never whistles, and that are very reasonably priced.

Call and talk to Katrina or me about test driving a pair of the latest technology hearing aids.

You'll be glad you did!

Best wishes,
Rick & Katrina
